Fuji SMBE

Process Engineer

Responsibilities

- Documenting and definng the Factory & Production processes and procedures across the Group
- Recommend and implement improvements to process and process automation
- Deploy and implement the Production processes and procedures in Singapore and overseas
- Manage the next-gen production system for switchgear manufacturing and assembly
- Responsible for the Audit and Compliance of Factory and Process Engineering across the Group
- Any other duties related to operations and process engineering

Requirement

- Degree/Diploma in Electrical, Mechanical Engineering or related field
- At least 2 years of relevant working experience in process engineering in the manufacturing environment
- Have initiative, able to work independently
- Possess strong analytical and problem solving skills
- Good communication and written and presentation skills
- Able to travel overseas